John L. Scott Real Estate Named 8th Most Productive in the Nation

RISMedia Ranks Top 700 Brokers in 20th Annual Power Broker Report & Survey

J. Lennox Scott, chairman and CEO of John L. Scott Real Estate, is proud to announce that the 77-year-old company has been ranked the eighth most productive real estate company in the nation based on 2007 sales volume. The ranking is a part of RISMedia's 20th Annual Power Broker Report & Survey which identifies and ranks America's most productive residential real estate companies by transaction sides and sales volume. John L. Scott Real Estate, which has 145 offices throughout Washington, Oregon, and Idaho, was also ranked eleventh in the nation for closed transactions.

"Appearing in RISMedia's 2008 Power Broker Report is more important than ever," explains RISMedia President and CEO John Featherston. "By ranking the industry's leading brokerages by sales dollar volume and transaction, we have been able to identify the leaders in real estate year after year. It's a great way to show consumers that the real estate industry is still open for business."

RISMedia's Power Broker Report is a highly respected reference tool used by the real estate industry. It is read by more than 300,000 real estate professionals, thousands of leading corporate relocation decision makers and is accessible online to millions of readers.

The Power Broker Report & Survey is compiled annually by RISMedia and is based on data collected by an annual survey of leading residential real estate brokerage firms. All sales and transaction volume comes directly from brokerages and is verified and substantiated by external sources, in most cases accounting firms, prior to publication.
