John L. Scott Agent Recognized as a “Realtor on the Rise”

Bellevue, WASH – Carolyn Heckman, an agent with the John L. Scott Bellevue North office, was recently recognized as a “Realtor on the Rise” by RIS Media’s Real Estate Magazine, one of the premier real estate trade publications. Fifty individuals were selected from across the country to represent this elite group of real estate professionals who, according to the magazine, were selected for their impressive “sales figures, innovative marketing strategies, and community involvement”.

“Carolyn Heckman is an exceptional Realtor,” said Heckman’s managing broker, Brigitte Pascutoi. “With her market knowledge, leadership skills, and customer service expertise she is definitely a ‘Realtor on the Rise’. We are proud that she was selected for this distinguished recognition and that she is a member of the John L. Scott Bellevue North team.”

Heckman has worked in real estate for four years, two of which she has been associated with John L. Scott. Her specialty is the luxury home market for which she has received extensive training as a designated member of the Luxury Home Marketing Institute. Heckman’s Bellevue North office is affiliated with John F. Buchan Homes, which presents her with the opportunity to represent both new construction and resale homes in the luxury market. Heckman says that she thinks she sets herself apart from other real estate agents by always “working with integrity, professionalism, and a high work ethic.”

Outside of real estate, Heckman is an active member of the John L. Scott Foundation which supports Seattle Children’s Hospital and Regional Medical Center. She has donated time and money to telethons and other events, such as the “Children’s Hospital Ride,” both of which raise funds for Children’s Hospital. Heckman also gives a percentage of every transaction as a donation to the John L. Scott Foundation.
